Boise-based National HouseCheck Expanding Treasure Valley Operations

BOISE, ID – National HouseCheck has announced the expansion of its Boise-area core of certified home inspectors, nearly tripling in size from five inspectors to 13. The expansion will enable HouseCheck to provide more home inspections across a larger area and meet the increasing demands of the local real estate market.

“The growth in our team is a direct response to meeting the growing demand for the quality services we’re bringing to the marketplace,” says Perry Campbell, Vice President of HouseCheck’s Inspector Operations. “We value the trust that has been placed in us by our partners in the Real Estate community, which has established a strong foundation for growth. We are excited to welcome more top quality inspectors to the team and broaden the reach of HouseCheck’s services in Boise and beyond.”

HouseCheck home inspectors are home experts with backgrounds in a variety of fields such as construction, electrical, plumbing and more. HouseCheck’s team approach enables inspectors to easily collaborate and share their expertise to help ensure clients receive the most comprehensive and transparent analysis of a home’s condition. Detailed reporting and additional protections offered through HouseCheck’s service guarantee, Home Warranty program and more, offer clarity and peace of mind before, during, and after a home transaction.

“This is an exciting time for HouseCheck and our local community as a whole,” says Bill Klehm, HouseCheck President and COO. “Not only will this enable HouseCheck to cover more ground and provide more inspections, it also strengthens our network of experts working together to deliver the best possible home inspection services. This is a tremendous benefit to home buyers, sellers and real estate agents who have come to depend on HouseCheck’s service and expertise.”

Until now, HouseCheck has been providing home inspection services with a dedicated team of five local home inspectors. Demand for more home inspections has grown with a strong local housing market and HouseCheck has worked quickly to recruit the most qualified inspectors to satisfy the need.

HouseCheck is still recruiting qualified home inspectors to join our team of professionals. Those interested in applying may visit <https://housecheckinspector.com/> or call 844-469-2333 for more information.
