National HouseCheck Corporation names Boise's Greg Manship VP of Programs

BOISE, Idaho, April 22, 2019 – National HouseCheck has announced Greg Manship as the organization's Vice President of Programs. Manship comes to HouseCheck with more than two decades of experience in the Boise real estate market delivering leadership and expertise in many facets of the industry, most notably in Multiple Listing Service (MLS) technology.

"I am very excited to join the HouseCheck leadership team and help drive the mission to deliver the most information and widest array of high quality services to real estate consumers across the country," says Manship. "The innovation and growth that HouseCheck has achieved in a relatively short period of time clearly demonstrates thoughtful consideration and the forward thinking needed throughout our industry. I am proud to join this talented team of professionals working tirelessly to make a positive impact for all involved in real estate transactions."

Prior to joining HouseCheck, Manship served as Senior Leader of Client Services for property data firm, CoreLogic in Boise, providing direct customer service while managing product and support teams in the implementation of CoreLogic programs. As Vice President of Operations, Manship managed day-to-day operations for Clarity, an MLS software and security company later acquired by CoreLogic. Previously, Manship served 11 years as CEO for Boise's Intermountain MLS.

"We are proud to welcome Greg to the HouseCheck team," says HouseCheck Chairman and CEO, Dennis Conforto. "Greg brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to the table that is invaluable. His passion for the industry, expertise and track record of success will only serve to enhance what HouseCheck is able to provide for real estate consumers."

As VP of Programs, Manship will help guide development and implementation of HouseCheck's expanding cadre of specialized services designed to provide home buyers, sellers and real estate professionals with the most detailed information about the condition of a home or business.

In addition to his extensive professional experience, Manship holds a B.A. in Journalism and Public Relations from California State University, Long Beach.
